DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group II in Paper No. 5 is acknowledged. The traversal is not found persuasive because the patentability of product claims depends on structures, not the steps of process claims. Further, a component container's intended use does not further limit the product.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Specification

2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

3. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

Art Unit: 3729

4. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 4-5 and 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Obayashi et al (US 4,749,625) in view of Frederickson et al (US 6,476,317), and further in view of Nagata et al (US 6,582,785).

Obayashi discloses in Figs. 3-4 of the steps, aluminum and PPMA for shells and substantially all the claimed limitations.

Obayashi fails to disclose creating a box and a means for accessing the cavities.

Frederickson discloses creating a box (col. 7, line 64).

Nagata discloses providing a means for accessing the cavities (Fig. 5).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Obayashi by creating a box, as taught by Frederickson, for the purpose of a means for carrying electronic devices to protect from EMI.

Further, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Obayashi by providing a means for accessing the cavities, as taught by Nagata, for the purpose of easily accessing the electronic devices mounted therein.

7. Claims 6 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Obayashi et al (US 4,749,625)/Frederickson et al (US 6,476,317)/Nagata et al (US 6,582,785) as applied to claims 4-5 and 13-17 above, and further in view of Gabower et al (US 6,624,432).

Obayashi/Frederickson/Nagata fail to disclose providing at least one post comprising a high-resistivity material, at least one platform and positioning the platform on the post comprising a high-resistivity material.

Gabower discloses providing at least one post comprising a high-resistivity material (21 is made of aluminum having mounting posts with holes for 18), at least one platform (32) and positioning the platform on the post (Fig. 2).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Obayashi/Frederickson/Nagata by providing at least one post comprising a high-resistivity material, at least one platform and positioning the platform on the post, as taught by Gabower, for the purpose of providing EMI shielding.

Conclusion

8. Please provide reference numerals (either in parentheses next to the claimed limitation or in a table format with one column listing the claimed limitation and another column listing corresponding reference numerals in the remark section of the response to the Office Action) to all the claimed limitations as well as support in the disclosure for better clarity. Applicants are duly reminded that a full and proper response to this Office Action that includes any amendment to the claims and specification of the application as originally filed requires that the applicant point out the support for any amendment made to the disclosure, including the claims. See 37 CFR 1.111 and MPEP 2163.06.
